1. On application being made to the electoral registration officer you will be given any help needed in filling up the form.

2. When deciding whom you should include in this return, do not think only of those present on the qualifying date ; there may be others who are resident though absent. Generally speaking a person is resident in a house if he normally lives there, so such a person should be included even though he is away temporarily, e.g., as a student, or on a visit or in hospital. On the other hand, some of those present may not be residents ; for instance, a guest or a visitor who ordinarily lives somewhere else should not be included.

Bearing this in mind you should include all residents, whether they are members of your family, resident domestics, or boarders or lodgers and whether or not they are already on the register of electors.

A person (including the occupier) who is ordinarily resident but has been sent away on a job should be included unless he will definitely be away for more than six months from start to finish.

3. A person with residences in more than one constituency may be registered for each, but it is a criminal offence to vote more than once at an election.

4. A person whose 21st birthday is after 21st Nov., 1953 and on or before 16th June, 1954 will be entitled to vote at elections held after 1st October, 1954. (A person is of full age on the day before his 21st birthday.)

5. Particulars of persons with service qualifications should not be entered on this form ; their names will be included in the register of electors if they fill up a service declaration (supplied by the appropriate service or department) and send it to the electoral registration officer.

A person has a service qualification if he or she is serving as a member of Her Majesty's forces, other than the reserve or auxiliary forces, or is employed in the service of the Crown outside the United Kingdom, or is the wife of such a person and is residing outside the United Kingdom to be with her husband.

Reservists called up for training should be entered on the form.

6. A peer is entitled to be registered as a resident for local government elections only.

7. A merchant seaman who is on the register and who is likely to be at sea at the time of an election is entitled to have a proxy appointed to vote for him. A form for this purpose will be sent to any person against whose name you put "M.S." unless a proxy has already been appointed for him.

8. If for some other reason a person is likely to be unable to go in person to the polling station at an election, he may be entitled to vote by post (but not if he is merely away on holiday). On being informed of the circumstances, the electoral registration officer will supply a form of application. Do not wait until an election before applying or you may be too late.

9. Some occupiers of property are liable for jury service, and their names will be marked as jurors in the register of electors. But if they are over 60 and this is stated on this form, they are not liable and their names will not be marked. People in certain occupations may claim exemption when the electors lists are on view at council offices, large post offices, etc., from 10th to 24th January.
